AUTODROMO HERMANOS RODRIGUEZ

The Autódromo Hermanos Rodríguez, a revered venue on the Formula 1 calendar, is nestled in Mexico City, boasting a storied history and thrilling races. With its 17 turns and 4,438-meter length, the circuit challenges drivers with its high altitude, situated at 2,238 meters above sea level. The thin air tests the capabilities of Formula 1 engines, demanding precision and skill from drivers navigating its diverse sections.

One of its defining features is the extended straight, spanning over a kilometer, providing ample opportunities for overtaking. As drivers navigate technical corners and the challenging esses, they approach the iconic stadium section, notorious for its potential pitfalls. The circuit's ambiance, surrounded by enthusiastic fans, adds to the electrifying atmosphere, creating unforgettable moments in each race.

Autódromo Hermanos Rodríguez's significance extends beyond its track, embodying Mexico's passion for motorsports and hosting memorable Formula 1 events that captivate audiences worldwide.
